Prefatory

The widespread interest displayed in the announcement of the dispersal of Mr. Hubbard's extensive and well-chosen collection of books relating to America, bears ample testimony to the esteem in which it is held by collectors and bibliophiles the country over. There have been, perhaps, brought under the hammer in recent years collections containing a larger number of conspicuous rarities and more full on books relating to particular sections of the older parts of the United States; but it is not easy to point to a sales catalogue issued within the last decade, in which is to be found a more comprehensive and well rounded-out assemblage of rare books encompassing in a general way the discovery, early exploration, colonization and settlement of both continents of the Western hemisphere.

In the special department of books on the West—that vast and interesting region extending from the borders of the older settlements along the Atlantic seaboard to the Pacific Coast—Mr. Hubbard's collection is particularly rich; and will, perhaps, be long remembered as the first great collection of the kind ever offered for sale, the first in which the number and rarity of the items included were in any way commensurate with the importance of the subject.

An examination of sales records during the past thirty years for prices realized by books and pamphlets in this class, is sure to reveal an astonishing lack of judgment on the part of collectors and auction house habitués during that time. Few there were it seems who were aware what opportunities were passing away. Few there were also who realized, while accounts of the earlier voyages across the Atlantic were bringing fabulous prices in the market, that those narratives of the first expeditions to the remoter parts of the continent of America itself, would also at a later day become eagerly sought after by a new generation of collectors sprung up amidst the wealth and literary culture of the territories but recently explored. And it is perhaps owing to this untimely neglect, that books on the early history of the West, now that they are called for in every direction are no longer to be had in sufficient quantities to supply the demand.

To suggest, however, that Mr. Hubbard confined his purchases exclusively to books on the West would be to convey an erroneous impression. On the contrary, as has been stated, he sought to cover the entire range of American History in its broadest sense as will be seen by a perusal of the following pages.

NEW FRANCE AND CANADA are liberally represented. Among works on this widely extended region are the writings of Champlain, Lescarbot, Charlevoix, Le Clercq, the Jesuit Relations, La Hontan (represented in a long series of original and important editions in French, Dutch and English), Bressani, Du Creux, Margry, Bacqueville de la Potherie, Smith, Heriot, Vancouver, Palliser, and a number of the more recent authors on the far Western parts of the Dominion.

MEXICO, CENTRAL AND SOUTH AMERICA. A large portion of the library is composed of works relating to the republics of Latin America, among which may be mentioned Las Casas, Acosta, Cortes, Benzoni, Herrera, Clavigero, Diaz de Castillo, Gomara, De Solis, T. Gage, Zarate, Garcilaso de la Vega, D'Acugna, Grynaeus, Juan and Ulloa, La Condamine, etc.

Among the rarer books relating to the older settlements of the East are: Wassenauer's "Historisch Verhael," containing the earliest printed reports of transactions in the New Netherlands, 1623, the original Dutch edition of "Kort en Bondigh Verhael," with a contemporary account of the loss of New Netherlands to the English, the works of De Laet, Montanus, Bishope, Campanius, Acrelius, Byfield;—Beverley's Virginia, Smith's New York, Lawson's Carolina, Stith's Virginia, Roberts's Florida, McCall's Georgia, Burke's Virginia complete, Peters's History of Connecticut, Force's Tracts, Hutchinson's Massachusetts complete, an important series of rare books relating to the State of Maine, collections of Historical Societies, and a fine copy of the original Paris edition of Jefferson's Notes on Virginia.

THE WESTERN STATES AND AMERICAN ABORIGINES. Bowles' Authentic Memoirs, 1791; Carver's Travels (several edns.); Catlin's Indians, a colored copy; Colden's Five Nations; Compleat History of the Late War, Dublin, 1763; Eliot's Indian Bible, 1685-80; Evans' Geographical Essay, with the rare map; Franchere's "Relation d'un Voyage," original edition; Lewis and Clark, Gas and Fisher, various works and editions; Haywood's Natural and Aboriginal History of Tennessee; also the "Civil and Political;" Hennepin, an extensive series of rare and important editions in French, Dutch and English; Heriot's Canada, colored copy; Hopkins' Housatannuk Indians, Boston, 1753; Hubbard's Indian Wars, London, 1677; Long's Expedition, with the Atlas; Kelly's Oregon, original edition; McAfee's "Late War;" Prince Maximilien's magnificent work on Western Travel, 1839-'44; Metcalf's Narratives, Lexington, 1821; Long's Voyages of an Indian Interpreter, in boards, uncut; Mohawk Prayer Book, Quebec, 1780; Pattie's Narrative, 1833; Maj. Robert Rogers' "Journals" and "Concise Account;" St. Clair's Narrative, Philadelphia, 1812; Sanders' Indian Wars, the Rare Second Edition; Schoolcraft (various works); Thomson's Causes of the Alienation of the Delaware and Shawanese Indians, 1759; Wilkinson's Memoirs, with the Atlas; Wyeth's "Short History of a Long Journey," etc. The above titles are chosen at random and are not to be taken as giving more than a representative selection of some of the scarcer items.

The Library also contains a collection of books on Mushrooms and other branches of Natural History including Audubon's Birds (1st 8vo edn.), Sargent's North American Silva, works illustrated by the Bewicks, a long run of rare and important editions of Walton's Compleat Angler and an Illuminated Manuscript Hours of the Virgin, Paris, 1500.

It has been our good fortune in the past to assist in the handling of many important and valuable collections of rare books; and it is with pleasure we inform our patrons that we do not remember ever to have surveyed a library of Americana as a whole in which the condition of the volumes contained was superior to those comprising Mr. Hubbard's most interesting collection.

THE EARLIEST BOOK OF TRAVELS IN AMERICA, the author, apparently, having been THE FIRST TO COME TO THE NEW WORLD MERELY TO GRATIFY HIS CURIOSITY AND RECORD HIS OBSERVATIONS.

"This rare book is the work of an Italian traveller who, incited by the wonderful stories of the world discovered by his countryman fifty years before, adventured in 1541 to gain personal knowledge of it. The Aborigines of the countries he visited always seemed first to attract his attention: and he has accordingly afforded us some of the rarest pictures of their condition and habits at that early day, of which the rude wood-cuts printed in the text are quaint but spirited illustrations."—Field.

Mr. Field during his long period of collecting was unable to obtain a copy, although describing one in his bibliography under a star number (indicating that he was unable to obtain it).

The subject of this biographical sketch was the son of a British school-master, who ran away from home and joined the British army at Philadelphia. Later being dismissed from the service he entered that of the Creeks and married one of their women. He attracted much attention to himself in England, whither he went to enlist the interposition of the Crown in favor of the independence of the Creek Nation of Indians.

Field says that the book is ranked among the rarest of works relating to the American Aborigines.

THIS MAGNIFICENT WORK IS ONE OF THE MOST IMPORTANT EVER ISSUED ON WESTERN AMERICAN TRAVEL. After crossing the Alleghanies to New Harmony via Pittsburg and spending the winter there, the expedition journeyed down the Ohio River and up the Missouri to its source on the Eastern slopes of the Oregon or Rocky Mountains, halts being made on the way at St. Louis, Fort Pierre, Fort Clarke, Fort Union and Fort Mackenzie. After exploring the head waters of the Missouri the expedition returned to Fort Clarke where the second winter was spent. From Fort Clarke it retraced its steps down the Missouri and up the Ohio till it reached Portsmouth whence turning northward along the Ohio Canal it journeyed to Niagara Falls via Cleveland and Buffalo, thence along the Erie Canal and down the Hudson River to New York; thus having crossed the Continent from the Atlantic to the Rockies and back again. THE AUTHOR GIVES LONG AND INTERESTING DESCRIPTIONS OF THE COUNTRY TRAVERSED
AND THE TOWNS AND VILLAGES VISITED en route, also MINUTE AND FAITHFUL DETAILS OF THE MANNERS AND CUSTOMS OF THE VARIOUS INDIAN TRIBES ENCOUNTERED.

THE LARGE AND BEAUTIFUL PLATES which accompany the work are perhaps, THE MOST EXQUISITELY COLORED OF ANY THAT WERE EVER ISSUED ON AMERICAN INDIANS AND LIFE ON THE PLAINS.
Forty-nine of the plates are illustrative of some phase in Indian life and character. The details of the COSTUMES OF THE VARIOUS TRIBES, THEIR WARLIKE AND MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS,
&c., are given with the utmost minuteness. THE BISON, DOG,
SCALP AND OTHER DANCES, ALSO HUNTING SCENES, are depicted in the most spirited manner and the extraordinary natural features of the country are faithfully delineated. In addition to THE PLATES OF INDIAN LIFE there are elegant VIEWS OF BOS-TON HARBOUR, BETHLEHAM, NEW HARMONY, THE YELLOWSTONE REGION, NIAGARA FALLS, NEW YORK BAY, and FORTS PIERRE, [QUEBEC:] PRINTED [BY WILLIAM BROWN] in the Year MDCCLXXX (1780).

OF EXCESSIVE RARITY. FINE PERFECT COPY.

The text is printed entirely in the Mohawk language, except the headings, which are in Mohawk and English. Pages 196-208 contain "Part of the Singing Psalms."

The first printing in Canada was done by William Brown, who established a press in 1763-'64, in Quebec. He associated with him Thomas Gilmore, who died in 1773, and Brown continued the business alone and at the date of the above publication (1780) was the only printer in Quebec.

Very few of the edition of 1769 remained among the Mohawks when they retired to Canada in 1777. Apprehensive that the book might be wholly lost in a little while, and desirous of a new supply, these Indians petitioned General Haldimand, then the Governor of that Province, for a new edition. This request was granted and 1,000 copies were ordered printed under the supervision of Colonel Claus, who, the Preface states, read and understood the Mohawk language.

Col. Claus was probably a native of the Mohawk Valley, where he acquired, in early life, a knowledge of the Iroquois language, and was in consequence attached as Interpreter to the department of Gen. Johnson.

THE EXTREMELY RARE ORIGINAL EDITION OF THIS VERY CURIOUS AND VALUABLE BOOK.

The author, having been mobbed as a Royalist during the Revolution, fled to England, where he remained till 1805. His History of Connecticut, which is a remarkable tissue of misstatements and exaggerations, is very severe in its reflections upon the inhabitants of Connecticut, to whom he attributes some fictitious "Blue Laws." It also contains A CURIOUS ACCOUNT OF 'BUNDLING,' and a description of a midnight invasion of Windham by frogs, and the consequent terror and flight of the inhabitants. Speaking of the Upper Cohoes Falls, he says: "Here water is consolidated, without frost, by pressure, by swiftness, between the pinching, sturdy rocks, to such a degree of induration, that no iron crow can be forced into it: here iron, lead, and cork, have one common weight," etc.
